DANIELSON

The town court Friday morning and received a sentence of 30 days in jail for having been intoxicated.

By rare good fortune rather than judicious discrimination, Beach was in court instead of in a morgue. Chief John McFarland has a half pint bottle, poison labels and all, that contained that amount of dehydrated alcohol which Beach treated himself to Thursday afternoon. As a Christmas beverage dehydrated alcohol will not appeal to the average person, no matter how much he may be opposed to prohibition, but a bottle apparently means no more to Beach than the picture of an old crow or such similar familiar device on containers of other and fully as wet ways.

The history of this incident seems to be that Beach purchased the poison alcohol at a local drug store in a perfectly legitimate way and was warned as to its deadliness if used as a beverage. The bottle was properly marked. It is said that Beach took the bottle to a near-by resort and asked for a bottle of beer, presumably to mix with some of the alcohol. He was ordered out of the place and then went to a stable and ingested it. He might have a drink of water. He was answered affirmatively and proceeded to drink some water and some of the alcohol and within a few minutes had collapsed. Chief McFarland was called and took him to the police station. Beach complained of feeling "mighty sore inside" when he was being taken over to jail Friday, but showed no really serious effects from the poison.

Beach has served various terms in the county jail, sent there at times from Putnam, again from Willimantic and at other times from Danielson.

Poultrymen in every section of Windham county will be interested in a county poultry meeting to be held Friday of next week, under the auspices of the County Farmers' association, at Orange.

"AUTOMOBILE WRECKED" MAY BE WRITTEN ABOUT YOUR CAR SOME DAY. NO DRIVER IS IMMUNE FROM ACCIDENT TO HIS MACHINE OR, WORSE STILL, TO PERSONS. LET US TELL YOU SOME TIME ABOUT AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE AND OF THE SATISFACTION OF DRIVING A CAR SO COVERED AS TO PROTECT YOU FROM LOSS. REMEMBER, THAT ONE ACCIDENT MAY COST YOU EVERY DOLLAR YOU POSSESS, INCLUDING YOUR HOME, IF YOU DO NOT CARRY INSURANCE ON YOUR CAR. WE WILL GLADLY TELL YOU ALL ABOUT AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE AT ANY TIME.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

In Norwich 50 years ago the city was in the grip of a cold wave, there were snow storms, and the river was frozen so that the boats had to unload at Allyn's Point. The city was busy with preparation for the Yuletide and there was little of interest in the town. Extracts from The Bulletin files of '71 follow:

Dec. 18, 1871.—There is considerable feeling over the formation of an independent hose company in Greenville, which the members of the engine company think is for the purpose of effecting the disbandment of their association. They think a separate company uncalled for, and say that the carriage was purchased at their request for their company, which is efficient and capable. At a recent meeting of the company a resolution refusing to recognize an independent hose company, or to negotiate with such company, was passed. The engine company has a membership of 47 and is supported in the position it has taken by a large part of the people of Greenville.

The thermometer marked 2 degrees above zero this morning, being the coldest yet so far of this winter.

The barn of Michael Morgan at Bean Hill was destroyed by fire Friday night. A sick horse and a quantity of hay were burned in the building, but several wagons were saved. The barn and contents were insured in the Merchants of Providence for $240.

Dec. 19, 1871.—The streets were in a fearful slippery condition last evening, and many were the falls and loud imprecations. The only serious accident we hear of occurred to Policeman Thomas D. Healy, who slipped on the walk near Mr. Crocker's residence on Franklin street about 10:30 o'clock in the evening, and broke one of his legs just below the ankle. Prompt assistance was rendered and he was conveyed to his home, where the bone was set.

Messrs. Lee & Doonan, who have contracted to finish the Air Line from Middletown to Willimantic for $500,000, were to commence work yesterday along the road. There are eight miles yet ungraded, and the bridge at 1300 feet above the water to be built over a stream in Chatham, but it is expected that the road will be completed within a year. It has already cost $500,000 and $1,300,000 more is necessary for its completion.

Dec. 20, 1871.—Three boys sliding down the hill near the Greenville school house on a large sled Tuesday ran into the carriage of L. A. Gallup, striking it on the front wheel. The horse took fright and ran, demolishing the wagon, and one of the boys, a son of Timothy critical way, but it is expected that careful treatment will bring him around to good condition.

William McDermott, who has been in Michigan making his headquarters at Grand Rapids for several months while engaged in promotion work, is with his mother, Mrs. Michael McDermott of High street for the holiday period.

A little snow and some sleet came Friday to assist in making the coming holiday days a little more festive. The sleet, of minor consequence and caused small damage.

A kindly act at Christmas-time on the part of the Danielson Girls' club was the sending through the mails of pretty cards bearing the season's greetings to shut-ins of the borough, and there was happiness and encouragement in the messages for many who are unable to share in the activities of the holiday.

Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, who has just returned over the New England area of the Methodist church, is to come here under the auspices of the Federation of churches February 14, and will deliver an address.

All of Danielson's banks will be open this (Saturday) evening for the accommodation of the holiday crowds.

Mrs. Mary Taylor will leave today (Saturday) to spend the Christmas season with relatives at Ludlow, Vt.

An unusually fast game is expected this evening at the town hall when the K. of C. five lines up against the American Legion team of Attleboro.

Miss Martha Horton, teacher at the high school, is spending the Christmas season at her home in Pawtucket.

Some of the grocers in town are to open their stores until 9 a. m. Monday for the accommodation of those who may run short of some supplies over Sunday.

Lee & Osgood Co.

Donovan, was thrown from the sled, breaking his arm. Mr. Gallup had just stopped the carriage on account of the sliding. Though there is no objection to the boys sliding, they certainly should be restricted to the proper limits.

All the boats of the Norwich and New York Transportation company are now using the "mineral sperm oil" having just been furnished with the lamps for burning it. This oil is the densest known of its class and is shown by severe tests to be practically safe. Kerosene is now entirely banished from the boats.

Several benevolent people have been victimized by two men who are collecting money for a Catholic orphan asylum which has no local habitation or name. Dec. 21, 1871.—The postoffice in this city issued the ten thousand money order last Monday. As the safety, economy and convenience of this method of remitting small sums of money becomes known the business increases rapidly.

One of E. W. Harvey's double teams was run into by the 3 o'clock freight train on the Norwich and Worcester road yesterday while crossing the track in Greenville. The horses were killed and the wagon was demolished and the horses were injured, but the driver jumped to the ground in time to avoid the accident.

In the appointment for Yale Junior exhibition, D. E. Gaylord of Ashford received a high oration. S. O. Prentice of North Stonington an oration, and G. Greene of Norwich a dissertation. All are graduates of the Free Academy.

Dec. 22, 1871.—Peter Mough, an employee of the Falls company, was instantly killed in the building known as the old mill of the company at the Falls about 6 o'clock Thursday evening. He was ascending to an upper story, standing on the roof of the elevator. When near the third story the elevating chain snapped some distance above him and fell upon his head. He was stunned by the blow and fell from the elevator to the carling room on the first floor, a distance of 50 feet. His neck was broken and he died immediately.

Yesterday was by far the coldest day of the season. At 5 o'clock the thermometer marked 2 degrees below zero, at 7 o'clock 4, and in some places it is said 5 and even 6. The temperature raised but little during the day and at 7 o'clock last evening was again below zero, which position it maintained till midnight.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Norwich and New York Transportation company in this city a committee was appointed to investigate the recent disaster to the steamer City of New London and to report at a later meeting in January. The officers of the company were elected. A. F. Smith of Norwich being re-elected president; Julius Webb, general manager, and H. L. Parker, secretary and treasurer.

Dec. 23, 1871.—Seven cars of the passenger and freight train on the New London Northern road which leaves New London at 6:45 p. m. were thrown from the track at Massapeag station, about four miles from this city, last evening. The engine in passing over a rail broke out a piece three feet long, but with the baggage car and a passenger car filled with workmen passed on safely. The three freight cars following ran off and plowed along the ground, destroying a part of a short bridge. The cars were all loaded with coal for Keene, N. H., and were all demolished. No one was injured.

The Norwich and New York Transportation company has appropriated $300 for the relief of the families of those of the crew of the City of New London who were lost, and subscription papers for a similar purpose and for a fund for the little son of Matthias W. Baker, the heroic engineer, have been placed on the boat of the line and in the company's offices in New York and this city.

The steamer City of Lawrence was unable to reach her wharf yesterday owing to the ice and discharged her cargo at Allyn's Point.

INTERIOR VIEW SHOWING MACHINERY USED IN PASTEURIZING MILK

SANITARY PASTEURIZATION PLANT AT FRANKLIN FARM DAIRY

One of the most modern and sanitary pasteurization plants in the state of Connecticut is located almost within a stone's throw of Norwich, yet practically few people in Norwich have seen the plant or know of its existence. It is worth a part of anyone's time to visit the plant and see milk going through this plant and coming out free from any injurious bacteria and absolutely free from any possible contamination.

The plant is known as the Franklin Farm Dairy and is conducted by Charles and John Frink. It is located on the Norwich-Willimantic road about a mile north of Yantic. The building which houses the machinery for pasteurizing the milk is new and is kept meticulously clean. All the employees of the plant have doctor's certificates showing that they are free from disease and are not carriers of disease. While at work they wear white clothes which are sterilized every day.

The interior of the plant is immaculately white and some idea of the place can be had from the accompanying interior view. In the foreground is the large nickel-plated receiving tank; into this the milk is first poured being strained as it goes into the tank. From the receiving tank it is pumped to the clarifier which is seen at the right of the picture. This clarifier removes all sediment and animal tissue that has escaped the strainer in the tank. From the clarifier the milk goes to the heater where it is heated to a temperature of 142 to 145 degrees which kills all bacteria or contamination of an injurious nature. From the heater the milk goes to pasteurizer, the tank seen in the middle of the picture, where it is kept at a temperature of 142 degrees for 30 minutes, making it absolutely certain that there are no germs in the milk. After thirty minutes in this tank the milk has been pasteurized and is almost ready for the customer. The milk goes from the pasteurizer to the cooling coil which can be seen at the extreme left of the picture. This coil cools the milk and then it is bottled and placed in the refrigerating plant where it is kept at a temperature of 38 to 40 degrees. The milk is then ready for the consumer.

In a room adjoining the pasteurizing room is the bottle washer and sterilizer through which every can and bottle used in the place is passed. The various pieces of the machinery, containers, pipes and tanks are thoroughly sterilized before the milk passes through and from the time the milk enters the receiving tank until it is bottled and capped it is not touched by human hands.

The milk used at the plant is from registered and graded cows which are inspected every few months. The plant at the present time is putting out about 1,500 quarts of pasteurized milk a day. The people of Norwich are cordially invited to inspect the plant at any time.

SEVIGNY SENT TO CANADA FOR TANLAC

"And It Helped Me From the First Dose," Declares Baltic Citizen.

"If it had not been for Tanlac I believe I would have soon had to give up my job, which I have held for nineteen years," said Alexis Sevigny, 119 Main St., Baltic, Conn., a well known employee of the Baltic Cotton Mills.

"I am glad to add my testimony to the many others I have read, for I think Tanlac is one medicine everybody should know about. I was barely able to hold my job until a year ago, when I began to be bothered with distress in my stomach after each meal. I was so weak and ill I could scarcely eat enough to keep me going, and I suffered dreadfully in spite of my careful dieting."

"I was troubled with gas bloating and was habitually constipated. My strength failed until I was barely able to hold down my job and my nerves were so unsteady that I could not get half enough sleep. I am no longer constipated, my nerves are all right, and I sleep like a baby in spite of a schoolboy. Tanlac is certainly great."

"Tanlac is sold in Norwich by National Drug Supply Corp. and Taftville Pharmacy, 229 W. Main St., and in Plainfield by F. J. McCreedy, Charles R. Carey, Jewett City, Conn. The proceeds helped much toward the
